How Do You Survive Without Electronics?

You don't have to have electronics to survive if you have your family, friends, neighbors, or anybody else you can have a lot more fun with them than if you were watching a T.V. or playing a video game. I don't have a T.V. at my dad's house and we have a lot more fun with each other than if we were on electronics. Electronics can draw families apart and split each other up. So here is how to go electronic free. This is what we do when we are with my dad. My siblings and I have a lot of tea parties and it is always very fun. We, as well, play a lot of board games like Risk, Monopoly or card games like Uno. I'm not at all saying that you can't play on electronics once in a while, but if you're on it more than is good for you that would be bad. So you should be a little more cautious in the future so that you're not on electronics way too much. By: Evalynn

CONGRATS TO MRS. STECKEL'S SECOND GRADE CLASS

Mrs. Steckel's class worked extremely hard the first quarter and the entire class earned their AR points. The class was rewarded with an ice cream party. The hope is to have more classrooms earn 100% second quarter. Keep up the great work! Happy reading!

Which Is Better Summer or Winter?

By: Caitie

So which would be better? Winter you can play in the snow and go sledding but it's really cold like -20s. In the Summer you can run around and play outside but it gets too hot. I think it's nice in summer, but winter snow is hard to say no to. There's flowers in summer, but there's stinging bees. I would choose.....well I don't know what to choose. But let's just say summer is just better and warmer am I right? So whether you like the cold or the warm were stuck with both. But a lot more winter. I personally like the cold winter.

Interview with Mrs. Zimmer

Question: Why did you want to teach at 4-k?

Answer: Mrs. Zimmer wanted to teach at 4-k because they are not boring.

Question: Why did you want to teach at Flambeau?

Answer: Mrs. Zimmer wanted to teach at Flambeau because her kids go to Flambeau and there is a kind group of teachers.

Question: what do the students learn in 4-k?

Answer: The students learn manners, social skills, animals, letters, numbers, colors, and shapes.

Question: How long have you been teaching and how do you like it?

Answer: Mrs. Zimmer taught 4-k for 3 years and 1 year before that head start. She loved it.

Middle School Girls Basketball

Make way for 6th grade basketball! Now you're probably are saying why should I join basketball? Because it's a good opportunity to make new friends and have fun with Mrs. Rhuby and Mrs. Cody. They have played Winter and Cornell so far. So to sum it up join basketball to have fun with your friends. They will be up against OLS on the 16th of January.

|-----------------------|--------------|
| 1: Sooty Shearwater | 40,000 miles |
| 2: Arctic Tern | 22,000 miles |
| 3: Pectoral Sandpiper | 18,000 miles |

Penguins

Penguins are especially suited for winter. They have two layers of feathers, fat, and a black and white color. Penguins are great swimmers but they can't fly.

All seventeen species live in the southern hemisphere. The names of the penguin species in order from largest to smallest are: Emperor, King, Gentoo, Chinstrap, Adelie, Humboldt, Magellanic, Macaroni, Royal, African, Erectcrested, Fiorland, Rockhopper, Yelllow-Eyed, Snares, Galapagos, and the little penguins.

Penguins have a thin body shape so they can swim faster in the water to catch food. Penguins eat small squid, fish, and krill. Penguins take turns looking after their young while the other one eats food from the ocean.

If you would like to find out more information about penguins stop at the library for a book.
